WHO WE ARE

AI Consultancy · Ireland-Built · People-First

We help you do what only you can.

What If Now is an Irish AI consultancy working with SMEs and charities to find the manual, repetitive work eating their team's time, and building tools to handle it automatically.

We don't sell AI for its own sake. We start with your people, your workflows, and your actual problems. Then we build something that solves them. We work with businesses that want to grow, not just cut costs.

Do what only you can.

Our Services: Empowering Your Potential

At What If Now, we help you find what slows your team down and fix it. We build practical AI solutions that save time, improve decisions, and let your people focus on the work that matters.

AI Strategy & Implementation

We work with your leadership to spot the best AI opportunities, set a clear roadmap, and execute. We handle the implementation from start to finish, integrating with your existing systems.

Fractional AI Officer Service

Not ready for a full AI strategy? We provide ongoing AI governance and compliance support on a retainer basis. A dedicated POC for all your AI questions.

Custom Automation Solutions

We build tools that remove manual work from your day. From document handling to support workflows, we focus on speed and fit.

Training & Ongoing Support

We train your team, so they can use new tools with confidence. Then we stay close and keep things running well.

From first conversation to ongoing support, we make AI useful, practical, and built around your team.
